The Mid-Coast Water Planning Partnership charter signatories had an opportunity during four weeks in June to review the strategies developed by the partnership to date and make suggested edits. All edits received have been incorporated, redundancies have been removed, and strategies have been compiled and reorganized to reflect themes. Two new draft products are available for review on the MCWPP website under the Action Plan menu tab, Implementation Plan submenu tab.

The documents include a summary of the strategies developed to date by theme as well as an implementation table with specifics regarding implementation, including draft performance metrics. Charter signatories will be reviewing, discussing, and finalizing both in July.

COMING IN JULY . . .

Charter signatories will be meeting in July to discuss the draft strategy summary and implementation table as well as review the overall Mid-Coast Water Action Plan. In addition, the Oregon Explorer team is working to launch a beta mapping and reporting tool in August! Stay tuned for additional progress as the MCWPP develops its Water Action Plan!
